

Young carers research and practice forum

27 September 2021

1.00pm-3.30pm on Zoom

Join Caring Together and the University of Portsmouth in hosting the first young carers research and practice forum.

Bringing together academics whose research areas include young carers and staff from young carers organisations, this is an opportunity to hear what are some of the latest themes and issues appearing in the world of young carers as we emerge from the COVID-19 pandemic.

As well as hearing from academics and young carer organisations, this forum will give the opportunity for researchers and practitioners to discuss next steps in taking action on some of these key issues. The aim is to create ongoing collaborations and partnerships to join research and practice to improve the lives of young carers and their families.
